ABSTRACT

More than 450 publications on the American Indian are cited in this bibliography. The majority of these were published since 1960, with exceptions dating back as far as 1915. Although the primary emphasis is on urban Indians, their relocation, problems of the rural-urban transition, and adjustment to the urban environment, publications are cited which could be useful to the study of rural Indians. The bibliography is intended to supplement 2 additional compilations published by the Training Center for Community Programs: "U.S. and Canadian Indian Periodicals" by John A. Price and "Modern Native Americans: A Selective Bibliography" by Arthur M. Harkins et al. (JH)
